No. 7,488,880 B2 discloses a method for producing a polymer, and a reactor used for the production of the polymer. As set forth in the patent, a first portion of a polymerization reactor is the solution polymerization (or solution monomer to polymer reaction) portion. Then, during a subsequent polymerization (or bulk polymerization) step in the reactor, the second portion of the reactor is the substantially non-mixed, substantially non-solvent-injected zone which is essentially free of solvents, and the third portion of the reactor is the substantially mixed zone. U.S. Patent Application Publication 2004/0083928 discloses a polymerization system including a reactor having an inner and an outer section, a first circulating fluidized bed in the outer section of the reactor, and a second circulating fluidized bed in the inner section of the reactor. The inner section includes a primary zone for forming an amorphous polymer having an amount of a comonomer in the inner section less than in the primary zone. The production of ultra-low density polyethylene (ULDPE), a copolymer of ethylene with an alpha-olefin comonomer, generally requires a reactor which is capable of reaching ultra-high activities. There is a need for a process which can produce ULDPE with commercially acceptable properties in an economically more desirable system. Top-ranking staff at the centre were ordered to attend a meeting on Thursday as far-right and anti-migrant groups plan "direct action" to disrupt a rally aimed at finding new homes for refugees, where politicians are expected to be joined by Greece's president and Germany's chancellor. A Greek man who escaped from the 2015 migrant crisis has been shot dead 6d1f23a050
